MESSAGE OVERVIEW

Jesus has always been clear about the life he requires his followers to live. But it seems that from the beginning, no matter how simply Jesus states his mission, his followers have the habit of missing the point. The disciples argue with one another about ranking themselves once the Kingdom comes. But when Jesus is King, there is no greatness to be had; there is only submission and service. In the kingdom where the King washes feet, towels are greater than trophies.

- What could keep you from fulfilling this commitment this week?
- How can you stay on mission this week if something threatens to throw you off?
- Is there an opportunity in the future for your whole family group to the person(s) you're serving this week? What might that look like?
